of the previous day. Two thousand copies of the verbatim reports of the proceedings of the Legislature would cost about $700 p r week, and if published by the two daily papers, would amount to about double that sum. This is the proposed economy of the present Legislature. And that too for a mass of matter which not one citizen in ten thousand in Indiana would wade through without compulsion. The Sentinel gave at the extra session as full reports as was necessay to understand the daily doings of the Legislature, and as much as the public wants demanded It was as much labor too as should be imposed upon one reporter in each branch. It was prepared as economically as the Legislature can procure it to be done. More, the ma ter was placed before more readers in the State than it would be if got up by the Legislature, and circulated exclusively by the members. If the object is to spread these the members. If the object is to spread these reports before the people of the State, it can be better accomplished by the newspaper reports as has been done. But the Legislature are afflicted with an economy mania, and the sequel will be stated in the legislature are afflicted with an economy mania, and the sequel will be stated in the legislature are afflicted in Board of Foreign Missions, American Colomization Society, and we believe the American with an economy mania, and the sequel will prove while they are attempting to save a dollar at the spiggot, thousands will be wasted at the bung. Already the time consumed in debating the question at the special and this session has cost the State more than all the newspapers ask cost the State more than all the newspapers ask sales are made, doubtless something handsome for reports ample enough for all practical purmay be realized for Yale College; but there is no Kentucky Democratic Convention.

The Louisville Courier says:

"The Democratic Convention which assembled at Frankfort Saturday last, January 8, 1859, was the largest body of the kind ever brought together in this State. The city of Frankfort was full of stangers. No hotel or boarding-house had a spare room. Their beds were all full, and the floors of their dining-rooms, ball-rooms, and barrooms were covered with weary strangers, who were glad to have such a sleeping place at night.

Nearly every county in the State was represented in the convention. The Democracy poured in from the North and the South, from Little Miami Railroad, where it awaits an owner.

The Convention was presided over by Hon. CHARLES A. WICKLIFFE and Vice Presidents from each of the ten Congressional Districts. The total vote given in the Convention was 668, while the total vote apportioned to the State was 685, showing a very full repre-State was 685, showing a very full representation. On the fifth ballot for Governor Hon. BERIAH MAGOFFIN was nominated, and Hon. LYNN Boyp was then nominated by acclamation for Lieutenant Governor Subsequently GRANT GREEN, of Henderson, was nominated for Auditor; ROBERT RICHARDSON, of Kenton, for Superintendent of Public Instruction; ANDREW J. JAMES, of Franklin, for Attorney General; Thomas J. FRAZIER, of Breathett, for Register of Land Office; JAMES P. BATES, of Barren, for President of Board of Public Improvement, and JAMES GAR-BARD, of Franklin, for State Treasurer. The following resolutions were unanimously

The Democracy of Kentucky, in State Convention assembled, ever loyal to the Constitution and the Union, relying upon the intelligence, virtue and patriotism of the people, hereby reassert their time honored principles.

heir time honored principles.

Resolved, That the resolutions passed by the Democratic National Convention at Cincinnati in June, 1856, and accepted by James Buchanan, the nomines of that convention for the Presidency, contain a true expection of Democratic faith, and that we prescribe no test of political ortho-doxy not contained therein.

Resolved, That in accordance with the senti in county meetings, we cordially extend to our present distinguished Chief Magistrate our continued confidence in his ability, integrity and pa-tinued confidence in his ability, integrity and patriotism, and in his devotion to the constitutional rights of all sections of the Union.

Resolved, That we cordially and heartily approve of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Dred Scott case.

Resolved, That the location of Cuba is such that its acquisition is important, and may become essential to the safety of the Southern and Western States, and its honorable acquisition would be beneficial to the interests of the whole Union.

Resolved, That the Democracy of Kentucky regard with unfeigned abhorrence the doctrines promulgated by eminent agitators and sectional ists at the North, that the diverse system of labor in the different States are incompatible with har-ists at the North, that the diverse system of labor in the different States are incompatible with harmonious continuance of the Union; and that our amazement has only been equalled by our disgust at the appeal made to the Know Nothings of the South, to amalgamate with the fanatics of the North, and sacrifice the dearest and most precious rights of the slaveholding States for the spoils of office.

Resolved, That we cheerfully pledge our cortical and carnest support to the nominees of this dial and earnest support to the nominees of this convention, regardless of any minor difference of opinion upon past or non-essential issues.

Eloquent speeches were made during the sitting of the convention by Colonel MAGOFFIN, Colonel BOYD, Hon. A. G. TALSOTT, Hon. JAMES GUTHare, Senator Powell and Colonel Thomas H. Horr. Governor Wickle in announcing the close of the business convention, congratulated the Democracy on the harmony and good feeling which had universally prevailed. The convention adjourned at a late hour Saturday night.

Henry L. Elisworth's Will.

The Hartford Courant says: The last will of the Hon. Henry L. Ellsworth was in this ity, but was not proved yesterday, and goes down to New Haven for probate to-day. Yale College comes in only as residuary legates. Professor Goodrich and Henry White, Esq., of New Haven, Elizur Goodrich and H. K. W. Welch, Esqs., of this city, and W. S. Peckham, of Indiana, are executors and trustees to secure $25,000 to each of Mr Ellsworth's living children Bible Society. After all these bequests are satisfied, Yale College will come in for the residuum. There is a considerable amount of debt to be provided for before anything is realized, and the ultimate settlement of the estate is quite problematical. If time is taken, and no forced probability it will amount to seven hundred thousand dollars.

The Hartford Times says that others better informed are of the opinion that it will net seven hundred thousand dollars. Of course the precise

Ohio Demogratic State Convention.—The Demogratic State Central Committee met at Columbus on Saturday, and fixed the 26th of May next as the day for holding the Demogratic State Convention to nominate candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Supreme Judge, Auditor, Treasurer and Secretary of State, and a member of the Board of Public Works.

The ratio of representation is fixed at one vote for every 500 cast for T. W. Bartly, at the last State election, and one for every fraction of 250 or over.

To-Day per Magness,

Our old friend, the Marshal of Indian naists that the Enquirer is so

We insist that the Democracy never has taken their creed from the Supreme Court of the United States, and, if wise, never will. We also insisted that, while we had known of opposition to the decisions of the Court being made a test of Democracy, we had never known compliance with its opinions to be made a test. And we cited examples to show wherein its decisions had been repudiated by the Democracy. Mr. Robinson adheres to his views of the infallibility of the Court, and the absolute necessity of our obedience to its decisions, unless we go in for rebellion and war on the Government itself. Let us see how that tallies with old Democratic times. He tries to break the force of our illustration in regard to a National bank by asking, "Were the Democracy and General Jackson bound to charter such an institution because the Supreme Court said Congress tution because the Supreme Court said Congress had the power?" Certainly not, but they were bound, according to the logic of Mr. Robinson, to cease their constitutional objections to it. So far from doing that, however, the Democracy in every National Convention first upon the list of objections declared "that Congress possesses no power to charter a National bank." This was asserting a doctrine right in the teeth of a deci sion of the Supreme Court. If the Democracy of the Union are bound to incorporate in their creed the decisions of the Supreme Court, we must strike out of our platform the resolution denying the constitutionality of a bank.

But Mr. Robinson insists that when the Court gives an affirmative decision, that neither Congress nor any other power can repudiate or set aside such decision. Mr. Jefferson had no hesitation in doing what Mr. Robinson says can not and should not be done. The Supreme Court did, notwithstanding Mr. Robinson's denial of the fact, declars the Schitter Lawrence and the court declars the C fact, declare the Sedition Law constitutional. When Mr. Jefferson entered on his Presidentia when Mr. Jefferson entered on his Presidential duties, he found several persons in prison under that law, whom he immediately pardoned, for the reason, as he stated, that the Sedition Law was unconstitutional. Again, President Adams, just as he was retiring from office, appointed several judges, and had the commissions all made out for them. They were not delivered, however, be fore he retired, and when Mr. Jefferson came into office he found the commissions on the desk of the Secretary of State. The Supreme Court de cided that the appointments were perfect, that the appointees were legally and constitutionally appointed, and should receive their commissions.

Mr. Jefferson rebelled, repudiated the opinion of Mr. Jefferson rebelled, repudiated the opinion of the Court, refused to deliver the commissions and appointed new judges. We hope these references from the first, if not greatest, of Democratic Presidents, will satisfy Mr. Robinson that he is out of the line of safe If we can take issue in our political platforms upon affirmative decisions of the Supreme Court, declare that tribunal to be in error, and labor to reverse its decisions we can do the same thing i they are of a negative character. As the political power of the country, the Democracy adopt general maxims and principles of government. which they expect the court will adhere to in its decision. If it does not, they will labor to reverse them. Not by force or nullification, but by argument and reason, addressed to the people who are the source of power in all the depar ments of the government.

The peculiar sacredness which Mr. Robins ttaches to the Supreme Court is an anti Demo cratic heresy. It is old Federalism revived in one of its most offensive forms. If the political cratic heresy. It is old Federalism revived in one of its most offensive forms. If the political decisions of the Court were not subject to an appeal to the people—if they could not be discussed—the Court might, by construction, make an entire new Constitution—might materially change the form of our Government. General Jackson, as President of the United States, denied the right of the Supreme Court to interpret the Constitution for him. He denied that its constructions were binding upon the co-ordinate branches of the Government. "For setting up his opinion against the Supreme Court," General Jackson was severely censured by the Opposition, and certainly would have been censured by Mr. Robinson, had he been in politics at that time and entertained his present views. We are sorry to say that our friend, on this subject, is not a Democrat of the Jefferson and Jacksen school, but a graduate of the Federal school of Hamilton, John Adams and Chief Justice Marshall. It was from them that he learned the infallibility It was from them that he learned the infallibility of the Supreme Court, and that its political decisions must not be questioned.

Let us refer to Mr. Jefferson's views of that Court. In his letter to Thomas Ritche—a Virginian, not an Ohioan—Mr. Jefferson in 1820 said:

"But it is not from this branch of govern ment [legislative] we have most to fear. Taxes and short elections will keep them right. The Judiciary of the United States is the subtle corps of sappers and miners unfotunately working under ground to undermine the foundations of our con-federated labric. They are construing our Con-stitution from a co-ordination of general and special government to a general and supreme one alone."

In his letter to Mr. Livingston, in 1825, in regard to his great code, Mr. Jefferson said:

"One single object, if your provision attains it, will entitle you to the endless gratitude of so-sciety; that of restraining indges from usurping legislation. And with no body of men is this restraint more wanting than with the judges of what is commonly called our General Government, but what I call our foreign department. They are practicing on the Constitution by inferences, analogies and sophisms, as they would on an ordinary law.

This member of the Government was at first considered as the most harmless and helpless of all an ordinary law.

This member of the Government was at first considered as the most harmless and helpless of all its organs. But it has proved that the power of declaring what the law is, ad libitum, by sapping and mining, slily and without alarm, the foundations of the Constitution, can do what open force would dare not attempt.

Mr. Robinson closes his notice of our article by saying that the decision of the Court in the Dred Scott case does not require the ensetment of a slave code for the Territories by Congress.

We are pleased to hear him say so, and we hope he will adhere to that view. He may grow lame on that point some day, for we notice that many Southern papers are demanding the admission of that point, which Northern Democrats will not yield.

The General Assembly was converted in a moment into a mob, drunk with the joy of victory. The uprovious demonstrations was paragraph. SOMEON PORTES has not been permanently improved by his resisence at Nice:

"The king, hefree coming to Italy, for about three hours every day, was quite crasy, but since his arrival, he has much improved, and there were great hopes that the pristine vigor of intellect for which he had previously been celebrated, would be quite restored. Every day the abertations were less decided, and finally he was so much better, that the destors allowed a small dinner party. The Royal patients was perfeculy sane all day, received his gueste, chatted, laughed and was quite joily; the dinner was announced, the company marched in, the king, of course, took his place at the head of the table, and everybody waited for him to set the example to put their spoons in their mouths. But instead of doing what was expected of him, his Majesty deliberately waited his face in the soup, and then sate complacently smiling on his friends, the long strings or vernicelli hanging down over his eyes and nose, and in his hair and moustache. You may imagine the effects no one dared to laugh, however, and they had to sit out the dinner with this ridiculous faure-head covered with gravy, (for he steroly refused towels, talking to them all the while. Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague. Hemistent Fever, Ontil Fever, Dumb Ague, Ferledical Hendache, or Billous Hemistent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Ferledical Hendache, or Billous Hendache, and Billous Fevers, indeed for the whole class of Diseases originating in billous of Missansatic Countries.

To one remedy is louder called for by the measuring of the American people than a sure and safe remedy for Fever and Ague Such a remedy we are now enabled to ofter, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the dise se, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or preyents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Freemedies is better than cure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "Curu" expels the miasmatic poison of Faven and Accus from the system and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach o its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of everybody; and in bilious districts, where Faven and Accus of everybody; and in bilious districts, where Faven and Accus of everybody; and in bilious districts, where Faven and Accus of everybody; and in bilious districts, where Faven and Accus of the enem of the thing of the speedy and our tain our of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral, consequently it produces no quinism or other in jurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.
